

MIKE DENKLAU for U.S. Congress

CAMPAIGN NEWSLETTER

April 16, 2010

Mike Receives Endorsement From The Storm Lake Times

“[Mike is] a genuine, smart and hard-working Iowa native who is running for Congress this November...Denklau brings a unique and valuable set of skills and insights that would make him a tremendous congressman...Why not give him a chance? We will.”

Canvassing, Conventions & Credentials

Mike has been busy visiting local communities over the past few weeks. While personally collecting petition signatures, Mike visited 20 counties and tasted some of the best pie in western Iowa. He also addressed the Cass, Pottawattamie and Woodbury County Democratic Conventions, where he spoke of the importance of electing a congressman with experience in business, finance and education in order to revitalize western Iowa and build a stronger future. “I sympathize with your frustrations toward Washington. That’s why I’m in this race; to change the way Washington functions. This is why I’ve committed myself to making my personal interests your personal interests by declining congressional pay raises until the economy is growing again.”

Recognizing the Importance of Iowa’s Farmers

In February, Mike visited one of the largest chicken egg production facilities in the country. While touring the facilities, Mike discussed frustrations with the current immigration system and his vision for comprehensive reform that meets the needs of Iowa’s businesses, protects the wages of working Iowans and ensures the enforcement of our laws. In March, Mike visited a Washta cattle farm and spoke at length with local cattlemen, agricultural equipment dealers and commodity risk managers. A tour of the cutting-edge cattle operation highlighted the use of ethanol by-products in feed and environmental protection enhancements of the system, including the control of manure waste.
